The First Words of Welcome to

Eleanor H. Porter's
JUST DAVID

From Members of the Trade

"Just David is simply charming. It is comparable in every way to 'Pollyanna.' Heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Porter and to the Houghton Mifflin Company. Very cordially yours,"

F. T. J. Nunan.

"I can conscientiously say that it is one of the most absorbingly interesting pieces of fiction I have ever read. I predict a wonderful sale for this book."

W. E. Glass of The M. O'Neil and Co.

"I am willing to risk my reputation for good judgment with everybody who comes into the little bookshop after publication day for I shall introduce 'Just David' to every mother's son of 'em."

Clarence E. Wolcott.

"It is a wonderful story and its success will be sure from the day of publication."

A. B. Fifield of the E. P. Judd Co.

The Portion of a Champion

By
Francis O'Sullivan tigue
$1.35 net

A romance of the heroic age of Ireland, the story of how Conal, a chieftain's son, wrung from adverse fortune both public recognition as a champion of warriors and the hand of the beautiful Etain. The story is so vividly presented as to give a veritable panorama of the times from the Celtic angle.

The Symphony Play

By
Jennette Lee
$1.00 net

A play made up of one-act plays, "not merely 'linked together by intervals of silence' and a dropped curtain," as the author explains, "but plays related in color and tone and progressive meaning." These plays, "Billy Boy," "The Mother," "The Brother," and "The Lady with Wings," form a perfect whole as the movements of a sonata form a symphony.

Father Bernard's Parish

By
Florence Olmstead
$1.25 net

An intensely sympathetic novel revealing the romance of the life of the poorer people in a great city of mingled races. It is a story of New York—not of Fifth Avenue, Broadway or Wall Street, but of the tenement districts with their comedy and tragedy and above all the clash and commingling of nationality.

The Long Road Home

By
Ralph D. Paine
Illustrated. $1.35 net

The story of a strong man wrestling with fate and winning. At the start his reputation is blasted by disaster which befalls the vessel of which he is captain. A series of misfortunes fall upon him as he starts life anew, but he is eventually vindicated when the girl he loves exposes the one really responsible.

Remating Time

By
Jesse Lynch Williams
50 cents net

Instead of marrying each other they both married people they did not love. And the people they married did not love them. Incidentally the people they married loved each other. Result—four thoroughly mismated and unhappy persons. The story of the escape from this difficult situation by means of "the happy divorce" is one which no one but Mr. Williams could have written. It is inimitably funny, clever and satirical with lots of real life mingled with its romance, and not a little food for thought.

The Conscript Mother

By
Robert Herrick
50 cents net

This beautiful story of the devotion of an Italian mother to her soldier son in the days just before and after Italy's entrance into the war is perhaps the finest bit of short fiction the European conflict has produced. Nothing could more perfectly convey the tension of those last moments in Rome or picture a more intensely typical instance of an Italian mother's sacrifice.

THE STORIES of H. C. BUNNER

First Series—Second Series. Sold separately. Each, $1.25 Net.

In response to a rapidly growing demand and an active revival interest in the work of Bunner, these stories are issued in a new and convenient edition in two volumes of attractive form.

Appletons' Early Spring Fiction

By the Author of "Emmy Lou"

A WARWICKSHIRE LAD

By George Madden Martin

A charming story of Shakespeare's boyhood, to enjoy yourself and to read to the children. It is a most pleasing picture we get of the home life of the little poet-to-be, of his enterprising, if unsuccessful, father, and his generous, devoted mother. The story develops until we see the more mature and purposeful William wooing and winning Ann Hathaway.

With 4 wash drawings, and 13 pen-and-ink sketches by Schwankovsky. 12mo. Cloth. $1.00 net.

By the Author of "The Whistling Man"

RICH MAN, POOR MAN

By Maximilian Foster

A famous writer once said that a girl, in choosing her husband, should consider what her worldly position at forty will be. In this story, the heroine, for whom a man committed a felony, has to decide in a minute whether she shall choose the position or the man.

A Stirring Western Romance

THE GOLDEN HOPE

By Grace S. Mason

Two men and a woman battle with love in the California desert, where East and West meet in the struggle of the settlers with the irrigation octopus.

The irresistible charm of the West is woven into every line of this delightful story, and the call to a wider freedom of life grips the reader from the first.

THE BETTER MAN

By Robert W. Chambers

Stories of the woods in which the man who has justice on his side is victorious—miniature masterpieces of Mr. Chambers' art. More entertaining stories of love and adventure Mr. Chambers has never written, yet none more purposeful, for each is, in effect, an eloquent plea for the preservation of our game and our forests.

Illustrated by Henry Hutt. $1.30 net.

By the Author of "The Seven Darlings"

WE THREE

By Gouverneur Morris

The story of a man, his wife and the other man—the eternal triangle, without sin, among the smart set. A vivid, realistic picture of New York society life—a protest against modern extravagance—a warning against the cocktail-tango pace. Mr. Morris has already taken his place among the American novelists who count. "We Three" will make that place secure.

Illustrated. $1.35 net.

By the Author of "Something New"

UNEASY MONEY

By Pelham Grenville Wodehouse

A book of constant chuckles. A humorous story of a chase for a fortune which resulted in a happy struggle to avoid it. A delicious fantasy. Mr. Wodehouse is a natural-born humorist. His fun is spontaneous—and it is clean. You are bound to enjoy it—whatever may be your taste in reading—for it is restful, and humorous and full of human nature.

THROUGH SOUTH AMERICA'S SOUTHLAND

By REV. J. A. ZAHM, C.S.C., Ph.D., (H. J. MOZANS)

Dr. Zahm knows South America from the Isthmus to the Straits of Magellan, and in this volume, the third and last of his famous South American travel books, "Following the Conquistadores," he reveals the history, the romance and the present-day status of Brazil, the Argentine, Chili, Paraguay and Uruguay. With 65 unusual illustrations. 8vo. Cloth. $3.50 net.

RECOLLECTIONS of A ROYAL GOVERNESS

The sombre and tragic figure of Francis Joseph of Austria stands out absolutely unique in history. No other ruler has been forced to live through more heart-breaking experiences than has been the lot of this aged monarch, who has ruled longer than any of the kings of earth. And still this sombre, tragic figure sits upon his tottering throne. This book is a true picture of his daily life as told by a former member of the royal household. With 50 illustrations. 8vo. Cloth. Gilt top. Uncut Edges. $3.50 net.

THE REAL STORY of THE WHALER

By A. HYATT VERRILL, Author of "Isles of Spice and Palm," etc.

As cotton is king in the South to-day, so, a hundred years ago, whaling was king in New England, and this book gives a dramatic picture of that romantic trade of the seas, which was in reality the foundation of American commerce. Profusely illustrated with photographs, pen-and-ink drawings, etc. Small 8vo. Cloth. Gilt top. $2.00 net.

Our Mothers

Compiled by MARY ALLETTE AYER, Editor of "Daily Cheer Year Book," "The Joys of Friendship," etc., etc.

Small 12mo. Gilt top. Price, Net, $1.00; Postpaid, $1.10. Edition de Luxe. Full leather. Price, Net $2.00; Postpaid $2.15

In this volume are gathered a wealth of the best things in prose and verse bearing tribute to mothers—those who devotedly rear the men and women of the future and acquire endearing graces in so doing. Everyone has a mother or the loving memory of one, therefore this is a tasteful gift for any friend, and sure to be appreciated.

"Truly Stories from the Surely Bible"

Adapted by MARGARET HOWARD

8vo. Cloth. Price, Net, $1.00; Postpaid, $1.10.

Very many deplore the lack of acquaintance of the children of to-day with the Book of Books, but have not the time to make the selections best suited to childhood. Miss Howard has done all this for them, and so skilfully removed the clear and beautiful from the obscure that the resulting narrative, left in the Bible's own words, is as smooth in its flow as it is sublime in its thought. "Just what I want for my children!" is the general expression upon examining this book.

The Monster-Hunters

By FRANCIS ROLT-WHEELER

Author of "U. S. Service Series." Illustrated from photographs, many of which are furnished by the American Museum of Natural History.

Large 12mo. Cloth. Decorated Cover. Price, Net, $1.20; Postpaid, $1.35.

The "Monster-Hunters" is a new achievement in juvenile literature. It is a story of thrilling adventure, and through its pages writhe or thunder those vast and uncanny monsters that inhabited this world long ago. Yet so carefully has this portrayal been done that there is no false scientific note, and no "nature-faking." The name of Dr. Rolt-Wheeler, whose many government books hold high rank, is sufficient guarantee of this, and the "Monster-Hunters" is endorsed by the American Museum of Natural History, of one or two of the expeditions of which it is, in part, the story.

Midshipman Stanford

A Story of Midshipman Life at Annapolis

By H. H. CLARK, U. S. N.

Illustrated by W. O. STEVENS, Professor at Naval Academy. 12mo. Cloth. 380 pages. Price, Net, $1.20; Postpaid, $1.35.

At the very front of American institutions stands the U. S. Naval Academy. Its life and traditions are of interest to young and old. As a vivid picture of midshipman life, with its strict drill, jolly relaxations, and other features of a naval cadet's code of honor, athletics, and opportunities for travel and varied service, it is complete in its accuracy. As a story of young manhood, it is inspiring and timely.

When I Was a Boy in Russia

Seventh volume of "Children of Other Lands Books."

By VLADIMIR DE BOGORY MOKRIEVITCH

Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth. Price, Net, $.75; Postpaid, $.85.

Russia the vast, Russia of the mysterious past and the tremendous future, is prominent in the public mind, and the authentic picture of Russian child-life on a nobleman's estate which is given in this book is of surpassing interest. The author, a noted political exile, familiar with America, tells of his early life with a frank confidence and a descriptive power which win the reader and make him understand much of the strange land in which the heart of a boy could yet be the same as we know it.

The Red House Children Growing Up

Fifth volume of "Little Red House Series."

By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS

Illustrated by LOUISE WYMAN. 12mo. Cloth. Price, Net, $1.00.
Postpaid, $1.10.

Each book of the favorite "Red House Series," telling of the eight lively brothers and sisters that found a new home and a kind stepfather can be enjoyed without reading the others, though most of the characters are naturally continued. The children are growing up, as children will, and some of them now approach the serious responsibilities of life.

Girls of the Morning-Glory Camp Fire

By ISABEL HORNIBROOK

Author of "Camp and Trail."

Illustrated in two colors by JOHN GOSS. 12mo. Cloth. Price, Net, $1.20; Postpaid, $1.35.

The helpful organization called the Camp Fire Girls is spreading with wonderful rapidity because it is based on the right elements to appeal both to girls and their parents. In this book, a sparkling style, rich humor, and wealth of incident are conspicuous. It will be welcomed by those who find much truth in the oft-heard statement that it is "hard to find good reading for growing girls."

That's Why Stories

By RUTH O. DYER

Author of "The Sleepy-Time Story-Book."

Frontispiece in two colors by JOHN GOSS. Decorations by LESTER M. CHACE.
Square 12mo. Cloth. Price, Net, $1.00; Postpaid, $1.10.

In a fanciful way the author of the popular "Sleepy-Time Story-Book" now keeps children wide awake with twenty-five charmingly told nature stories, assigning reasons for many things of interest to a child. The innate love of a fairy story is satisfied without misleading or terrifying, and many a lesson of kindness is taught while quickening the power of observation and stimulating the imaginative faculty.

THE LANCE of KANANA

A Story of Arabia.

By HARRY W. FRENCH

("Abd el Ardavan.")

Illustrations by GARRETT. Reproduced in two colors. 12mo. Cloth.
Price, Net, $1.00; Postpaid, $1.10.

Kanana, a Bedouin youth, though excelling in athletic prowess, is branded, even by his father, as a coward because he prefers the humble lot of a shepherd to the warrior's career that he, the son of a sheik known as the "Terror of the Desert," was expected to follow. "Only for Allah and Arabia will I lift a lance and take a life," he maintained. Under circumstances which try his fortitude most severely, he at last throws a long lance and by the act frees Arabia. The supposed coward, understood too late, becomes in memory a national hero.

DAVE PORTER SERIES

By EDWARD STRATEMEYER

Dave Porter at Oak Hall Dave Porter in the Far North
Dave Porter in the South Seas Dave Porter and His Classmates
Dave Porter's Return to School Dave Porter at Star Ranch

Well Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth. Price of Each Volume, $.60.

N.B.—Other "Dave Porter" books are published only in the regular $1.25 edition, in which style these may also be secured, if desired.

Dave Porter is a favorite hero of American boy readers, and rightly so. The books in which he appears are, first of all, school stories, with the fine enthusiasm of school loyalty and comradeship, but Dave's activities take a very wide range and wherever he is found he displays true American energy, ability, and honor. There can be no better friend for any boy to know and pattern after than the one he will find in these books.

By AMANDA M. DOUGLAS

Helen Grant's Schooldays Helen Grant, Senior
Helen Grant's Friends Helen Grant, Graduate
Helen Grant at Aldred House Helen Grant, Teacher
Helen Grant in College Helen Grant's Decision
Helen Grant's Harvest Year

Well Illustrated. 12mo. Cloth. Nine Volumes. Price of Each, $.60.

It is hard to get good and at the same time interesting reading for older girls at any price, and doubly so at a low price. Issuing these sterling books at half their former cost without cheapening their quality will therefore solve a vexed problem for a great number of homes, libraries, and schools.

Helen Grant, the finest type of an American girl, has become the personal friend of an ever-increasing number of girls and young women in her days at high school, boarding-school, and college, her career as a teacher, and finally in her own happy home.

CHILDREN OF HOPE

By STEPHEN WHITMAN, author of "The Woman from Yonder," etc.

A novel with a great deal of the glamour of "Trilby," telling with humor, gaiety, and unflinching distinction about three lovely Americans, transplanted from Zanesville, Ohio, to live the artistic life in Europe—their ambitions, their love stories, their achievements, etc. Eight full-page pictures by Gruger. Price $1.40 net.

COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN!

By ALICE DUER MILLER, author of "The Blue Arch," etc.

An unusually fresh plot with a delightfully and justifiably happy ending, a group of extraordinarily entertaining characters, and a story-telling manner rich with humor, satire, and that charm called personality. Twelve full-page pictures by Paul Meylan. Price $1.25 net.

Just Published

JOHN BOGARDUS

By GEORGE AGNEW CHAMBERLAIN, author of "Through Stained Glass," etc.

The story of a young man who, robbed of his youth by an over-ambitious father, breaks away from conventional society, takes to the road, in Europe, Africa, and his own country, meets with adventure, and finds in the end both love and wisdom. Another brilliant, fascinating, out-of-the-ordinary Chamberlain novel. Four illustrations by W. T. Benda. Price $1.35 net.

"Nights"

Rome, Venice, in the Aesthetic Eighties; Paris, London, in the Fighting Nineties

By ELIZABETH ROBINS PENNELL

Sixteen illustrations from photographs and etchings.

$3.00 net. Octavo. Postage extra

The pleasure of association with equally famous literary and artistic friends has been the good fortune of the Pennells. In this absorbing book there is the inside history of an enthralling period; and an acquaintanceship with those who made it what it was: Beardsley, Henley, Harland, editor of "The Yellow Book," Whistler, etc. The illustrations, photographs, and etchings by Joseph Pennell are unusual.

Petrograd:

Past and Present

By WM. BARNES STEVENI
30 photographic illustrations. 319 pages. Octavo. $3.00 net. Postage extra.

In a lively style, the author presents the life of the great city since the day of Peter the Great, its founder. The Moujiks, bureaucrats and aristocrats are observed and made to live in the Occidental mind by the author watching and studying in theatres, restaurants, gardens, etc.

A Thousand Years of Russian History

By SONIA E. HOWE

13 plates, 28 illustrations, and maps. 432 pages. Octavo. $2.50 net.

This is just what is desired: a readable history of Russia since the foundation of the Empire in 862. The author is a Russian by birth; an Englishwoman by marriage. By revealing the past this book gives the reader the meaning of the present literature, music, dancing and politics of the great kingdom.

Submarines:

Their Mechanism and Operation

Behold the Woman!

By T. EVERETT HARRÉ. $1.35 Net

The tremendous story of the Redemption of a Woman's Soul. Symbolic in its interpretation of the spiritual emancipation of womankind, it bears a trenchant message for every thinking man and woman living in the world to-day.

Only four or five books in literature possess the scope, the insight, the passion, and the power displayed in this engrossing work—"Quo Vadis," "Salambo," and "Ben Hur," etc. It will unquestionably rank as one of the greatest romances ever written.

A novel teaming with the turbulent excitement, intrigue, and romance of the most splendid and licentious age of the world. The Time is the final conflict between Paganism and Christianity.

The Finding of Jasper Holt

By GRACE LIVINGSTON HILL LUTZ
Author of "Miranda," etc., etc.

Three illustrations in color by E. F. Bayha. $1.25 Net. Postage Extra.

A love story of a Western man and an Eastern woman. To rise to the occasion he needs the agencies of an exciting railroad accident, a horse race and loads of beautiful roses from his own garden, but he succeeds, and the reader rejoices. Mrs. Lutz's heart and humor are on every page.

Adam's Garden

By NINA WILCOX PUTNAM

Frontispiece in color by H. Weston Taylor. $1.25 Net. Postage Extra.

Adam's fate was to work out his salvation and win his girl by raising flowers upon a vacant city lot, surrounded by cats and dogs, dwelling with crusty humorous curmudgeons who drift from everywhere, having a feud with a thug and being desperately loved by an unfortunate girl. A big story with humanity its theme.

The Strange Cases of Mason Brant

By NEVIL MONROE HOPKINS.
Illustrated in color by Gayle Hoskins.

Criminology is a difficult art when we know that a man can put a little radium in your hat and drive you stark crazy. This is but one of the mysteries that cross the path of Mason Brant, cosmopolitan gentleman. The author, a scientist, attacks the situation with a refreshing originality.

The Curved Blades

By CAROLYN WELLS, Author of "The White Alley."
Frontispiece by Gayle Hoskins. $1.35 Net. Postage extra.

You know Fleming Stone. Did you think he could fall in love? In the midst of as amazing a murder mystery as could be conceived, the heart of the great sleuth is pierced with one of cupid's darts. This is a fine old-fashioned detective story—the kind that grabs you, holds you, leaves you feeling part and parcel of a terrific drama of crime and detection.

A Man's Reach

By SALLY NELSON ROBINS

Three illustrations in color by Edmund Frederick. $1.25 Net. Postage Extra.

Governor Stuart of Virginia:

"I have much pleasure in commending it to the thousands who must be interested in the vital thought suggested by the title."

Bishop D. J. O'Connell, Richmond, Va.:

"I am rather well acquainted with Mrs. Sally Nelson Robbins. If you wish to understand the Virginia of to-day you would do well to read her."

The Conquest

By SIDNEY L. NYBURG

Author of "The Final Verdict." $1.25 Net. Postage Extra.

James L. Ford, in the New York Herald:

"When, a year ago, I read Mr. Sidney L. Nyburg's volume of short stories called 'The Final Verdict,' I promised myself to keep a sharp lookout for any further work he might do. I have just finished 'The Conquest,' a novel which fulfils the promise of the earlier book and adds a name to the list of really good American novelists."

To be published April 8th. "Fight? I'll fight you with pleasure, but I shall probably kill you if I do. Do you want to be killed?" So it opens—this most absorbing of E. M. Dell's successful novels.

The best work of the author of "The Fringe of the Desert," "The Torch of Life," etc. The scene—partly in England, partly in the haunting Egypt this author knows so well.

You read the "Peacock Feather"? Here is a story by the same author, and one as profoundly sympathetic, as romantic, as charming.

A dramatic tale of love, sacrifice and daring laid on the heather strewn Devonshire moors, with frowning prison walls as a background.

A fresh Scotch setting, a suggestion of homely dialect, an air of ardent romance in a tradition steeped atmosphere—a better story than the author's "Bawbee Jock." The making of a modern woman. A striking picture of social, artistic and literary life in the disturbing "early nineties."

Stories with real salt air in them. These characters have plainly been the author's shipmates.

Almost fiction, almost biography, wholly delightful literature. "The school of A. C. Benson, if not A. C. Benson himself," says the London Times.

Few, alive or dead, have ever had the opportunity to come into personal contact with Lincoln, as has the author.

A striking and absorbing biography of twenty famous Popes who helped make not only the history of the Church, but of the world.

A lucid, romantic, and historically correct narrative of events from the death of Louis XI in 1483 to the death of Henry IV in 1610.

A book of the greatest practical importance as well as of permanent historical value, by the Chief and Asst. Chief, Isthmian Canal Commission.

The author shows the successive steps which have been taken since the days of Tyre to the founding of child welfare societies.

Novels of Exceptional Promise

THE AMATEUR

By Charles G. Norris

Charles Norris has written an American novel. Not necessarily the American novel, but a real interpretation of a vital phase of life in a great city. It is a book of experience, and people. Because Norris came to New York seeking an artistic success, the scene is laid in New York. How his man succeeded, the social and near-social hurdles he had to take—the people known to you and me whom he encountered—all told with frankest realism. There you have a book to thrill and entertain. With jacket in full color and decorative end papers by B. Cory Kilvert. 12mo. Net $1.35

THE BELOVED TRAITOR

By Frank L. Packard

Frank Packard has scored two great successes in "The Miracle Man" and "Greater Love Hath No Man." This new novel, "The Beloved Traitor," well justifies the paradox of its title. It is a story of France and America, of a vital situation—the contradictions of genius and affection in a deep, strong rich nature—of struggle as opposed to problem—of the failure that shall spell highest success. Illustrated. Also picture jacket in color, all by Modest Stein. 12mo. Net $1.25

THE S. S. GLORY

By Frederick Niven

From a roaring night of fun on the waterfront they board their cattle ship and sail her to Liverpool docks. But there is a sea-yarn between such as we are not often vouchsafed. Vivid, virile, salt and strong. For all who love adventure and the sea. Many illustrations in color and picture jacket by Fred Holmes. 12mo. Net $1.25

Songs of the Now and Here

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Charles Hanson Towne

The editor of McClure's, author of "Manhattan" and "The Quiet Singer," is among our most interesting young American poets. This volume shows a deepening and broadening of his fine talent. They are poems of the immediate present, modern in tone: the life of today sung with insight and beauty. 12mo. Boards. Net $1.00

How the Allies Look, to Germany

WHAT GERMANY THINKS

By Thomas F. A. Smith

The author of "The Soul of Germany" gives us some surprising information on what Germany thinks. He has lived in Germany; he has seen and heard and felt; he has had access to the German press, controlled or free, as we have not. He deals with facts, in part with documents, and derives from them conclusions which contradict many widely-disseminated impressions. An important book. 12mo. Net $1.25

WALT MASON HIS BOOK

With an introduction by Irvin S. Cobb

A choice selection of sparkling wit and quaint philosophy from this popular writer

"It is a work of high individuality, full of raciness, wit and sense."—Arthur Conan Doyle.

"We need more of this kind of philosophy. Better to sing a jubilante than a miserere."—Hon. Champ Clark.

"Walt Mason is the High Priest of Horse Sense."

—George Ade

Walt Mason's prose poetry is perhaps the most widely read of contemporary writers. William Allen White summarizes his work aptly in saying:

"How many millions of people are cheered year by year, as they turn every day to those quaint verses? Here is a man doing a man's work in the world, making life brighter and more cheerful and more sensible in this vale of tears. Millions in money could do no more—if as much—as this man does at his day's work."

VEST POCKET ESSAYS

By GEORGE FITCH

Author of "At Good Old Siwash," etc.

"Vest Pocket Essays" are short talks—about four hundred words each—on miscellaneous subjects. "From Hope to Hash," "From Cabbages to Kings." Fitch's humor is good-natured, yet there is a wealth of meaning behind his fun. It is above all things a philosophic humor, though he is never cynically smart, and when he takes certain institutions to task he does it in a kindly manner. His is a quiet, dry, droll humor—to be consumed in leisurely fashion, rolled under the tongue and chuckled over.

NEW WINSTON BOOKS

Anthracite

By SCOTT NEARING, Ph. D., Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Toledo University.

Dr. Nearing uses the private ownership of the Anthracite coal fields to show how consumers and workers may expect to fare at the hands of other monopolies of natural resources. He draws the conclusion that no one can have an interest in the continuance of the private ownership of natural resources except the private owners themselves—with the consumers footing the bill. The book is an incisive, stimulating analysis of a problem that is vital to every man, woman and child in the country. 251 pages. Cloth. $1.00 net.

The Most Touching Love Story Ever Written by this Popular Author!

About Miss Mattie Morningglory

By LILIAN BELL

This is one of the sweetest love stories ever told—a story that fairly teems with humor and pathos. It is woven about Miss Mattie Morningglory, an impulsive little milliner, who, when disappointed in her first lover, gradually accumulates a household of waifs, and thereby another lover. It is about these children, the neighbors, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Shapiro, Maggie Connor, old man Sproule, and Matt McCabe, that the tale is told. The plot abounds in pleasing surprises and the book is sure to be popular.

BORZOI BOOKS YOU MUST HAVE

GREEN MANSIONS By W. H. Hudson Color Jacket $1.50

Introduction by John Galsworthy who says of this delightful South American Romance: "For of all living authors—now that Tolstoi has gone—I could least dispense with W. H. Hudson. . . . 'GREEN MANSIONS,' a story which immortalizes, I think as passionate a love of all beautiful things as ever was in the heart of man. . . . In form and spirit the book is unique, a simple romantic narrative transmuted by sheer glow of beauty into a prose poem. . . . I would that every man, woman and child in England were made to read him; and I would that you in America would take him to heart. . . . As a simple narrator he is well-nigh unsurpassed, as a stylist he has few, if any living equals."

THE BUFFOON By Louis U. Wilkinson $1.50

A brilliantly entertaining novel of contemporary life. Of it John Cowper Powys, the lecturer says: "A powerful work animated by a shrewd and searching psychology. A masterly book." THE BUFFOON will appeal to all admirers of Mr. Powys.

THE MEMOIRS OF A PHYSICIAN By Veressayev $1.50

One of the most famous and remarkable of all Russian books, this will interest anyone who has to do with the medical profession (and who has not?) Write for special circular showing complete contents.

EAT AND BE WELL By Eugene Christian $1.00

Dr. Christian is probably the greatest food expert in America today, and this book summarizes the results of his life work. It consists largely of complete menus arranged according to season, your age, and your occupation. There are curative menus for about 90% of human illnesses.

GREAT RUSSIA By Charles Sarolea $1.25

The best popular survey of Russia today—her geography, her politics, her problems, her literature.

IN THE RUSSIAN RANKS By John Morse $1.50

Mr. Morse's tale of his adventures (his flight from Prussia over the Russian border in 1914, his varied service in the army of the Czar, his capture by the Germans and his thrilling escape) will hold spell-bound even the most surfeited of war-book readers. Picture jacket in 2 colors.

THE LITTLE DEMON: A Novel

THE OLD HOUSE and other stories

By Feodor Sologub $1.50 each

These two books, by one of the most noted of the younger Russians, are now published in English for the first time. The translations are authorized. The Egoist calls "The Little Demon" "the finest Russian novel since Dostoevsky and Tolstoy and already considered a classic, although first published in 1907."

BIRDS AND MAN

By W. H. Hudson $2.25

John Galsworthy calls Hudson "about the greatest living English stylist . . . the finest living observer of Nature in her moods." This book represents the author of GREEN MANSIONS at his best. Color jacket.

ANNOUNCE

An Important New Series of Guide Books

For nearly three years, under the general editorship of Mr. Fremont Rider, an entirely new series of guide books has been in active preparation, which will aim to do for the United States in particular and America in general what Baedeker has so long and so excellently done for Europe.

They will be guide books pure and simple, without illustrations other than maps and plans, but with every scrap of authenticated information which the tourist or sight-seer may legitimately require. They will carry no advertising and will follow in general the Baedeker format. The first volume of the series:

Rider's New York City

(Probable price, $3.10 net)

is now in press, and will be ready for publication very shortly. Two further volumes of the series:

Rider's New England and

(Probable price, $3.10 net)

Rider's Washington and Vicinity

(Probable price, $2.20 net)

should be ready for publication in the fall. Six other volumes are either planned out or are in actual course of preparation.

Although several hands have shared in his preparatory labor the Editor desires that special acknowledgment should be made of the cooperation of Mr. Frederic Taber Cooper, on whom a large part of the actual labor of compilation has fallen.

These guide books, it is believed, will be more detailed and comprehensive than anything heretofore attempted in this country, and a continuing effort will be made to keep them accurate and up-to-date—standard. More than a word also should be said for the maps, made by Rand, McNally & Co. especially for this series, and believed to mark a new standard of excellence for map work in this country.

The maps, printed in four colors, include detailed sectional street plans and show all hotels, stores, transit lines, and every building and point of interest to the tourist. Even such usually stolid lists as those of churches, hotels, etc. include brief and carefully authenticated hints for the traveler's guidance. Special effort is made to treat not only the historical and artistic phases of our cities but also—equally legitimate subjects of interest—the outstanding and characteristic business and engineering features.

TELLS SOME STARTLING THINGS ABOUT SUGAR

Do you, for example, know the relation of sugar to prosperity?

Do you know that our individual consumption of sugar has quadrupled in half a century?

Do you know that Cuba, right at our doors, produces more sugar than any other district in the world?

Do you know that more American capital is now being invested in Cuban Cane Sugar than any other single foreign enterprise.

This new book, the first on Cuban Sugar, deals entertainingly with its subject, and will be found of great interest and value to sugar investors and others.

Out on the tumbling waves of the Atlantic, behind her a war-swept mother country in whose defense her American father had fallen at the Battle of the Marne, ahead of her a grim, woman-hating Uncle, estranged from his brother by the girl's French mother—Roberta, Marquise of Grez and Bye, quaintly American, piquantly French, adorably feminine, is set out on her great adventure. At New York there is no Uncle to meet her, only a letter.

Its promise of healing for the little crippled brother, of welcome in this strange land, is headed with the astounding misunderstanding: "Nephew Robert!" There is to be no welcome for petticoats—and so much depends on pleasing the irascible old Statesman!

Her father had called her "Daredevil"—she was tall for a woman and broad of shoulder; her tresses clipped, the apparel of a young man secured—and Roberta, the Marquise, becomes Robert Carruthers, a gay, stout-hearted masquerader. And then—romance, intrigues, plots of enemies of France and crooked contract agents, dancing under the radiant Southern moon, rides in the mountains with that flower of Southern chivalry, "the Gouverneur of Harpeth," and in the end, love that comes in the guise of friendship.

THE SPRING OF 1916—AND AFTER.

PROSPERITY seems to have cast in her lot with the book-trade. A traveler for one of the larger houses just back from a swing through the larger cities of the Middle West says that he has never before seen such an optimistic lot of booksellers. One of New York City's largest retail stores reports business abreast of, and even a little ahead of, anything it has ever known before. To be sure, the manager of one prominent bookstore growled in answer to our query as to the spring outlook, "Oh, pretty good—fiction isn't selling," but he is the only non-enthusiast we ran across. The public apparently has an abundance of money for extra bindings and standard sets, too. Drama seems to have slumped badly but poetry is still a big seller. War books?—some retailers meet the query with a shrug; one of them said he is making a lot of money and sending in a lot of re-orders every week from his war counter; practically all of them agree that certain war books, from six to a dozen of them, of the inherently worth while "Hilltop on the Marne"—"Ordeal by Battle" type, are selling well.

On the publishers' part, the spring sees practically no hold-overs from the fall, and books are appearing promptly despite certain difficulties in securing paper. Early publication dates have been in order with several houses, the Bobbs-Merrill Co., Little, Brown & Co. and Doubleday, Page & Co. all publishing important fiction before the middle of February, "Mrs. Balfame" (Frederick A. Stokes Co.) appearing in February, and the Harper leader, the Booth Tarkington novel, appearing this week—to mention only a few of the early publications of promise. Doubleday, Page, in fact, brought out about half of their entire spring list in January.

Prosperity in the book-trade, as the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY has frequently pointed out before, keeps in pretty close step with general prosperity throughout the country. The United States has gained enormously in commercial and industrial self assurance since the first palsy of the fall of 1914, and the recovery in the book-trade, while of course nothing like so spectacular, has nevertheless been almost as steady, as that in the manufacturing and shipping industries. As to general conditions now, Dun's Review for March 4 says, "The latest figures show a numerical reduction of twenty-five per cent. and a contraction of over forty per cent. in amount [of failures during February 1916] as compared with [February of] last year." Again, "More new high-water marks in overseas commerce were attained during January. Imports—$184,192,199—eclipsed all former totals, not only for January, but for any month in the country's history. . . . Excepting last December, the January shipments [exports] were of unprecedented volume, aggregating $335,535,303, or $67,600,000 more than in the same period of 1915." And again, "Never before have conditions matched those now prevailing in iron and steel. . . . Current demands continue extraordinary and the railroads are contracting as far ahead as 1917, while shipyard requirements are unprecedented. Not at any previous time, even in other years of great boom, have the mills been so fully sold up for extended deliveries." "Textile mills are overcrowded with business"—but we must stop somewhere!

All of this is most gratifying. Yet—though far be it from us to cry "Wolf! Wolf!" unnecessarily—after this sudden burst of prosperity, what? Some urge that, free from debt, secure in the position of the world's banker, with a heavy trade balance in our favor, we shall come through unscathed into the new world of "after the war." On the other hand it seems entirely possible—some even say inevitable—that the present upward rush may end in an abrupt settling down. In this event, what of the book-trade?

The PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY believes that the American book-trade is in a better condition to withstand such a shock to-day—should it come—than it has been in half a dozen years. Not the least factor in its present robust condition, it seems to us, is the relatively decreased book production; we are prosperous not in spite of a lessened book output but at least partially on account of it. 2724 entries are listed in this year's spring announcement list, some three or four hundred more than 1915, while the list of 1914 included 3482 entries, 1913, 3682, and 1912, 4024. While larger lists may mean a few more worth-while books, they also mean an increasing percentage of books which the trade would be better off without. Of 1912, the year with a spring list 1300 entries greater than this year, the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY said in the Spring Announcement Number for 1913, "Last year was not distinctly retrogressive for the trade as a whole but it certainly marked no forward advance." When the squall comes after the war—and it seems well-nigh inevitable that there will be a crisis, whether or not a panic follows it—it is to be hoped that the trade will be found in as healthy a condition as it is to-day and not sloughing along, bow under, with an overspread of canvas, as was the case in 1912.

THE New York State Court of Appeals handed down on Feb. 22d last a decision, a unanimous decision, for which, if we understand correctly the facts in the case, we confess we do not see the equitable grounds. The case involved a peculiar sort of advertising misrepresentation, being a suit brought by the Innovation Ingenuities Company against the New York Times. It was summarized in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for March 28, 1914, at the time of its trial in the lower court. The facts, as we understand them to be admitted by the defendants, are that on May 26, 1912, R. H. Macy & Company advertised in the Times a special sale of their "Peerless Wardrobe Trunks," but inserted in their advertisement a cut, not of their cheaper "Peerless" trunks, but of one of the well-known, more expensive "Innovation" trunks made by the plaintiff. In defense of this sort of department store method the Macy Company state that the purpose of the cut was simply to draw people to their store and that no misrepresentation was attempted in the actual selling of the trunks! The courts have uniformly refused the Innovation Company the damages it sought. The defense was that the action was "frivolous," and that no damage was shown. We cannot see, however, we must confess, why the cut was not misleading to the public which read the advertisement in question, and indirectly damaging to the reputation and business of the Innovation Company. It may be that the complainants would have fared better had they been able to bring action under the new law regulating fraudulent advertising, which was of subsequent enactment.

STATIONERS AND PUBLISHERS BOARD OF TRADE HOLDS 41ST ANNI- VERSARY DINNER

THE Stationers and Publishers Board of Trade of New York held its forty-first anniversary dinner at the Hotel Astor, New York City, last Saturday night, over two hundred being present. After an informal reception the members and guests filed into the smaller Astor ballroom, familiar to bookmen as the place where for some years now the annual Booksellers' Association dinners have been held, and attacked the following menu:

Cotuit oysters
Velouté of mallard duck, bordelaise
Olives Celery Salted nuts
Florida shad and roe, meunière
Cucumbers
Mignons of spring lamb with fresh mushrooms
Bermuda potatoes, rissoles
String beans, gratinés
Marie Brizard sherbet
Roast guinea chicken, Virginia
Fruit salad, tropical
Fresh strawberry and vanilla ice cream
Assorted cakes
Coffee

Preparedness was the theme of the speakers of the evening. Mr. George Haven Putnam spoke of the preparedness of the German book-trade, giving reminiscences of his own German student days, and of the need of such a trade "preparedness" in this country as the Stephens bill now before Congress will afford. An excellent little pamphlet emphasizing the national support the Stephens bill had already received was by the plate of every diner. Soon Mr. Putnam passed to a "preparedness" even nearer his heart, and his remarks on national defense were listened to with close attention and warm approbation.

He was followed by Cyrus Townsend Brady, who from anecdotal and humorous beginnings, developed an impassioned arraignment of militaristic imperialism and defense of Americanism. Formal hand clapping was succeeded by enthusiastic cheering before he had finished.

To Burges Johnson fell the difficult task of striking successfully a lighter touch in conclusion—but he did it. His plea was for a "preparedness in profanity" of which he said he felt we had had and would have greater need. He deplored the flabby weakness into which our historic oaths had fallen and plead for their revivification. He outlined the process of degradation which all emphatic language continually suffered, and asked the publishers, they having exhausted already on their book jackets all the superlative adjectives of the English language, what they would do "when a really good book came out."

ONE OF THE BEST BITS OF LEAP YEAR ADVERTISING COPY WE HAVE SEEN SINCE—WELL, LAST LEAP YEAR, ANYWAY

The above appeared in the Indianapolis papers and "doubled the store's average business for the day."
"I am sorry that it cannot be an annual affair," writes Mr. Melcher.

Company, acted as toast master. The book trade proper had many representatives.

Besides an orchestra, the committee in charge of the arrangements for the dinner (of which committee C. A. Burkhardt was the book trade member) had provided some further diversion. The young ladies who flitted among the diners at intervals during the dinner drew from Dr. Brady, it may only be said, the remark that, far from being "stationery," he thought this was about the "swiftest thing in dinners" he had attended in some time.

The souvenirs included a copy of Irvin Cobb's "Speaking of Operations"—from G. H. Doran Company; a copy of Vance Thompson's "Drink and Be Sober" from Moffat, Yard & Company; Carolyn Wells' "The Honeymooner's Own Book" from the A. M. Davis Company; a leather-bound memorandum book from the Boorum & Pease Company; a little anthology "True Friendship," compiled by Chas. A. Burkhardt, from Wm. J. Burkhardt of Jersey City; a sample box of Dixon's pencils, erasers, etc.; a fine box of writing paper, specially watermarked with the seal of the Stationers and Publishers Board of Trade, from the American Writing Paper Company; a souvenir from the Waterman Pen Company; etc.

Too many merchants leave the matter of complaints to cheap clerks to handle.—Hodgkin: "Manual of Successful Storekeeping."

NO MONEY IN PERIODICALS FOR BOOKSELLER, SAYS WELL-KNOWN DEALER.

"I CONFESS my interest in selling magazines from a business point of view is decidedly lukewarm," says W. K. Stewart, Louisville, Indianapolis and Cincinnati bookseller, in Crowley's Magazine. "How else could it be when the discount is below the cost of doing business? When you go through the ordinary bookstore and consider that the library business, the school-book business and the magazine sales are all made below the average cost of selling, it is quickly seen that the business must depend on other departments to maintain itself.

"As regards the magazine business alone:

"In all our stores we give very valuable space to the magazines in the front of the stores in the most conspicuous possible location. The one justification is the fact that magazines are reading matter and people, therefore, expect them in a bookstore, and if they are not to be found there it appears as though you are neglecting something that your customer has a right to expect.

"The one good point about the business, of course, is that there is practically no investment in the stock itself, as the goods are for the most part on consignment, but estimating that one's sales of magazines are $10,000 a year, this would mean for any other class of merchandise a stock investment of, perhaps, $2000; interest on same would be at the rate of $10.00 a month. If you add that to the profit of the sales of $10,000 worth of magazines, we are still operating below the cost of handling the proposition.

"No, the magazine people know that the bookstores have to have the magazines, and they, therefore, are not compelled to make the discount a proper one. Personally, I would be very glad to see the number of magazines very materially reduced and all of them sold at a proper margin. The tendency would then be to get skilled people to sell the magazines, and the public would get more intelligent service.

"Once in a long time you do find someone who has intelligence enough to really sell magazines instead of passing them out as they are asked for, but, naturally, this can happen in few stores when the man who is intelligent enough to remind customers of special articles to suit the taste of special customers would have to be a man who would be earning a much bigger salary than any magazine business could possibly support.

"With us, I consider it extremely bad advertising to have an incapable person at the magazine counter, as the number of impressions possible to be made per day at that counter are almost infinite. The cost of keeping the proper kind of person at that counter must be charged to advertising, since it otherwise makes the department show a considerable loss. In December and January, one of the most capable persons we have in the store is required to handle the annual subscriptions, but the amount of this business is too large to be handled at the magazine counter properly. This is attended to at a desk at the rear in all three of our stores.

"In Indianapolis and Louisville we have a special magazine clerk; in Cincinnati we do not. Here in Louisville we do a very much larger volume of magazine business than at the other two stores, as our predecessors here seemed to have been chiefly interested in the magazine department, and this I have considered one of the main reasons why the concern failed, as the other items of merchandise in which there is a much larger margin of profit were very largely neglected.

"The News Company branches, of course, vary in their efficiency. The one here in Louisville, I should say, is the best I have ever come in contact with.

"No, we never give window displays to magazines here, though on one or two special occasions this has been done in the other two stores.

"We do a considerable amount of newspaper advertising, but not of magazines. It would seem to me not a bad notion to try a subscription window display offering a group of magazines, not at a cut price, but at a regular group price, for I disapprove thoroughly of a cut price on anything. If such a display were arranged and sent to us, we would use it, but we would not spend any time or money in arranging it ourselves.

"Our order with the News Company is checked in each case, and we try to keep alive to the fact that the department can show no profit at the best and keep an accurate record so that our loss can be kept at a minimum."

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

From the Börsenblatt für den deutschen Buchhandel and other sources.

THE ASSOCIATION OF GERMAN PUBLISHERS (Deutscher Verlegerverein), a corporate member of the Boersenverein, shows in its report for 1914-1915 a decrease in membership. The list shows 686 members representing 720 firms, as against 701 members representing 728 firms the preceding year. 47 members resigned, 32 new members were accepted. Of thirteen members deceased during the period covered by the report, four fell on the field of battle. The report shows a decrease in book production and book selling because of the war in every branch of the trade except that of maps and postal cards. The many books written about the war have brought the average of sales up to a fairly good rate.

RECENT STATISTICS FOR THE GERMAN BOOK-TRADE in the years immediately preceding the war showed yearly average of 30,000 book titles, 5630 periodicals, and 4000 daily newspapers. For this production there were required, in round numbers, 10,000 printing houses with together 108,000 workmen and 32,000 office clerks, etc. In 3000 binderies 16,000 workpeople and 1000 office force were employed. 3200 publishing firms, 7300 book-selling houses, 225 commission houses and 3000 general newsdealers employed altogether 40,000 people. This did not include about 700 paper factories and a large number of type foundries, color factories and other industries that feed the book trades.

THERE ARE NO OFFICIAL FIGURES as yet obtainable, later than June, 1915, for the production of war literature, but the statistics up to that date show a notable activity. The Hinrichs Catalog up to the end of May, 1915, notes 4300 printed books, which does not include a flood of pamphlets, leaflets, special newspaper supplements or post cards. This last named form of publication has been somewhat curtailed by governmental regulation. The Imperial Chancellery prohibits the exportation of postal cards with pictures of cities, noticeable city buildings, certain particular landscapes or conspicuous monuments from German, Austro-Hungarian, Turkish or Belgian territory, particularly from any of the neighborhoods which are in the line of battle. The regulation regarding the exportation and sale of maps has been softened, in that maps up to a scale of 1:1,000,000 may be sold to allied or neutral countries. This concerns maps made before April, 1915. New maps must be inspected by the War Department for regulation from case to case as before. Globes, school atlases, and the like may be freely sold to neutral or allied countries. Certain large firms of booksellers in Vienna and Budapest may freely buy or sell any sort of map of any size.

"SPERLING'S PERIODICAL DIRECTORY" gives the names of 6421 journals appearing in Germany during 1915. This does not include daily newspapers. The largest single item is that of trade journals, a list of 1007 publications. Next comes theology and religious journals with 759 names. Then jurisprudence, political economy and politics with 611 names. Periodicals which are intended merely to amuse number only 227 although this does not include 121 names catalogued as "Juvenile periodicals." A list of 148 journals devoted to various forms of outdoor sport shows an increase in this activity for Germany. Of these 8 are devoted solely to aviation, 13 to the horse, and 42 to the automobile industry.

THE AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN GOVERNMENT has forbidden the circulation of the following books: F. W. Whitridge's "An American Opinion on the War;" "Speeches on the War" by David Lloyd George, Earl Kitchener, Mr. Winston Churchill; "Can Germany Win?" by an American; James M. Beck's "The Double Alliance Against the Triple Entente;" Prof. Gilbert Murray's "Is War Justified?"; all publications of the League To Enforce Peace, New York; "Peace Call to Women," published by the Women's Peace Assn. of Zürich; No. 150 (Sept. 1915) of the Annals of the Am. Academy of Political and Social Science, containing articles on "American Interests After the European War;" and James Bryce's "The Neutral Nations and the War."

THE ASSOCIATION OF BERLIN BOOKSELLERS has supplied its members with a great number of copies of a leaflet containing the following text:

"TO OUR CUSTOMERS.

"We pray you to be patient if mail orders are filled slowly. Post office and railroad connections are not as regular as in times of peace.

"We ask you to carry home as many purchases as possible yourself. Our employees are at the front and it is very difficult to obtain substitutes.

"We beg you also to be patient if your newspaper or your periodicals are delivered with some little delay. Our errand boys and porters as well as the shop and office force are at the front or serving in other branches of the army work. Come, if possible, for the periodical yourself. We will try to make the visit to our shop worth your while.

"Some booksellers are obliged by the labor shortage to close their shops during the midday hours. Do not withdraw your patronage if you arrive at such a time.

"Everyone needs ready cash in such a time as this. Please pay for purchases at once, if possible, or remit for the quarterly bill as soon as convenient after receipt of it.

"Our husbands, sons and brothers out there in the trenches or in the hospitals long for good books more than for anything else, to bring relief to overwrought nerves. Send a book with every package."

ANOTHER BURDEN which the war has put upon the German book-trade is the governmental control of metals. This has been strictly enforced since the first of last year, but it was not until May, 1915, that the supply of metals used in the printing trades came under the immediate supervision of the War Ministry. Since that date all branches of the book trades and graphic arts using metal in plates, galvanos, presses and the like, particularly copper in any form, have been ordered to report all metals or metal products in stock, and to hold same for seizure at any moment. Exceptions are made in the case of small houses using less than 150 kilograms of copper or copper alloy. To meet this situation the various printing trades have formed a Central Clearing House for Metals with an office in Leipzig in the Book Trade Building, using the Book Printer's Journal as an organ for their announcements. The Clearing House is under the auspices and supervision of the War Ministry in Berlin. It is entirely an altruistic association, expecting no financial returns from its activities. It stands as middleman between the book-trade and printing firms and the government, supplies the certificates without which no metals can be bought or worked, gives advice as to the best means of providing new supplies and utilizing what is on hand, and endeavors in every way to make the situation easier for the book-trade. Thus far the government has paid for all metal taken, copper bringing 1.185 per kilogram. Tin and antimony can no longer be purchased for use in printing houses, and copper can be purchased only in exchange for old metal at a rate of 30% new material for 100% old. The printing trades are advised to give their old plates to certain factories chosen by the Clearing House and approved by the government, where they will be melted down and the metal put into shape for the manufacture of new plates. The War Ministry has sent out a warning to printing houses not to sell any metal except through the clearing houses or other official bodies. No private purchasers are to be noticed even if these purchasers should come armed with certificates. A certain cleavage of interests between the printing trades and the publishing houses has caused the latter to ask for special representation in the management of the clearing houses. A number of knotty questions within the trade have arisen, particularly as to who is to make the announcement of metals in possession, the printing house or the publisher. The publisher often leaves plates of all kinds, which are on their books, at the printing houses, as do some well known artists, etchers or illustrators. In certain cases these last have suffered loss from announcements made by the printing house without their knowledge. The government has taken the stand that a printing house must declare all metals on its shelves regardless of ownership. This has caused numerous publishers to withdraw their stock from the printing houses, that they may get the credit of declaration themselves, with its attendant right to purchase of new metals. New declarations must be made every two months. A special government office for war metals has been established as part of the army administration.

ACCORDING TO THE Fourth Estate, the entire number of periodicals in Germany, trade and belletristic, reached 6,896 in 1914, which number, in consequence of the war, has decreased by 570. The remarkable growth in the number of Germany's periodicals may be seen from the following data: In 1892 3,536 were published, in 1901 the number reached 5,321, and in 1911 almost 6,000 appeared. 611 deal with the science of the law, politics and political economy, theology and Christian belletristic literature is covered by 494 publications, 391 deal with agriculture and forestry, 369 treat commerce, trade and medical science, while 345 further the science of education.

THE REPORT of the Gyldendal Publishing House in Copenhagen (the most important of its kind in Scandinavia), for 1914, shows a business of 2,247,434 crowns during the year. Of this, 532,905 was gross earnings, net earnings amounting to 180,355 crowns. A six per cent. dividend on outstanding stock took 144,000 crowns, the remainder of the amount going to the reserve fund, which with its amortization account now stands at 770,811 crowns. The assets of the firm, in land, buildings, stock of books, paper and cuts, figure at nearly seven million crowns, while its obligations are about three million five hundred thousand. This important publishing house deserves the main credit for the improvements in the constitution and organization of the Danish Booksellers' Association. The reorganization, which went into effect last summer, has regulated the unhealthy competition between publishing firms and also the relations of these latter to the retail sellers.

THE FLOOD of WAR LITERATURE, native and translated, still affords, in Denmark as elsewhere, a large proportion of the business done by publishers and booksellers. A peculiar effect of the higher cost of living, due to the war, has been to offer a lively market for new cook-books which deal with economical food-buying and food preparation.

THE HOUSE of PAYOT & Co., in Lausanne, is falling into disfavor with the German part of Switzerland and into decided disfavor in Germany and Austria by its publication of French, English, or American anti-German war books. A number of them had been put into circulation in Austria but are now prohibited by the government.

SPAIN IS PREPARING to celebrate the tercentenary of the death of the Spanish national poet, Cervantes, which occurs in 1916. A special popular edition of Don Quixote is planned, 10,000 copies to be printed; an edition of 100,000 for young people is to be issued; and there will be a special de luxe edition of 125 copies, in four volumes with 200 illustrations by Ricardo Marin. A new monument to the poet is to be placed in Madrid, and an exhibition of works about Cervantes will be on view in that city in April. A number of 25 peso gold pieces bearing Cervantes' likeness are to be issued during the year.

HACHETTE & Co. have resumed the publication of their collection of the works of the Great French Writers. The new series will consist of the works of authors of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, and starts with the "Méditations Poétiques" of Lamartine. Says the Paris correspondent of the English Bookseller, "Under ordinary circumstances, it would be hardly worth recording that a handsome edition of a classic author had been published, but at the present moment it is an event of some importance as proving that our attention is not absorbed by the Hun wholly and his unholy doings!"

THE FRENCH PUBLISHERS of "Livres Classiques" have increased the price on these books by ten per cent. The English Foreign Booksellers' Association has met this with an increase in the retail price of one penny per franc of the published price.

THOUGH STILL UNDER THE INFLUENCE of the calamity that befell the old city, the population of Louvain works energetically at the reconstruction of its former intellectual life. This is evident in the revival of the booktrade. The old publishing firm of Ch. Peters has re-established its business by building a wooden structure on the site of its former store and has resumed its activity by publishing an interesting pamphlet "New Louvain," by Prof. Lemair, treating chiefly of plans for the reconstruction of the historic market place. The firms of Fonteyn and Desbarax are still doing a considerable amount of business, having suffered little material damage. The house of Hystpruyst, however, has as yet not been able to re-establish itself and neither has the famous "Keurboekerji," the principal Catholic public library, been reopened to the public.

THE ITALIAN PAPERMAKERS and printers are still urging on their government the absolute necessity of prohibiting the exportation of paper and paper stock, and the desirability of abolishing, during the war, the present import dues on these goods, says the British and Colonial Printer and Stationer. Otherwise, they urge, the paper trade, in which £12,000,000 is said to be invested, and 40,000 persons employed, is threatened with ruin. According to the official returns, during the ten months ended October 31, 1915, the exports of white paper (not ruled) reached a total of nearly 10,000 tons, valued at some £255,000, whereas the imports—including wood pulp—of paper of all sorts totalled up to less than 5,000 tons, leaving much more than a 5,000 ton balance on the wrong side, at a time when the Italian paper-using trades are almost starving for want of the materials.

THE COST OF LIVING as affecting books calls forth the following "hint" for the publisher from the British & Colonial Printer: "The cost of living is increasing, provisions have risen enormously in price, rents are rising, clothing follows suit, and now we are threatened with a rise in the price of books, the reasons given being the increase in the price of paper, leather, printing, etc., and the increased cost of labor, while at the same time the demand is falling to such an extent that the publishers incomes are decreasing. Dealing with this subject in the Liverpool Post, a writer says that 'one remedy would be the heroic plan of cutting down book publication by half, shutting up the houses of half our publishers, and trying to limit new fiction to books of at least a moderate quality. Another and more likely plan would be for our publishers temporarily to copy their Continental confrères by abandoning expensive and costly binding. Of every thousand novels published there is perhaps one which any human being could desire to read twice. By following the French plan of putting fiction into paper covers, there ought to be some saving to publishers, and no one would be the worse for it.' Perhaps publishers will take a hint from these suggestions."

THE EXPORT OF BOOKBINDING LEATHERS is now formally prohibited from British Colonies and possessions to any European countries except France, Russia, Italy, Spain and Portugal.

SAYS The Saturday Review: "There are some things in which people cannot afford to economize without mistaking the whole purpose of economy. It will not materially help the country financially to economize in things of the mind—in good print, in music, or in any of the things which give a genuine grace and dignity to life. The financial results of such economy are small, and they are tremendously outweighed by the irreparable loss to the country of intellectual force and of all means by which a nation's spirit is kept alive and fresh. More especially let English literature be the last thing to be cut out of the list of necessary things. Those who think of literature as a mere luxury, to be cut down with as little compunction as petrol or asparagus, are exceedingly ill-advised. They can have very little idea as to what precisely it is we are fighting to preserve. The nation which is starved in mind and fancy is as little likely to survive the searching test of war as the nation which is starved for bread and cheese." These words are being widely used by English booksellers in their windows and catalogues.

NEW GERMAN BOOK-TRADE BIBLIOGRAPHY.

ON the first of January, 1916, the Boersenverein der Deutschen Buchhandel took over the three principal book catalogues appearing in Germany, the Hinrich's Catalog, the Kayser Book Lexicon and the George Reference Catalog, and announces that these three enterprises will be united in one general catalog of the German book production, appearing every four years. The name of the new catalog is the "Deutsches Bucherverzeichnis" and the first issue will be a complete bibliographical record for the years 1911 to 1914. The book can be purchased in installments, or complete, the price for the latter being from 130 marks in paper, to 165 marks, cloth.

This new enterprise on the part of the Boersenverein is the result of years of negotiation, including some litigation between the various private publishers of the three catalogs. It was part of the far-reaching plan of centralization in bibliographical records out of which grew the splendid new building now going up in Leipzig. This building is to be the seat of the activities of the Boersenverein, including the publication of the Börsenblatt and the new catalogue. The Catalog will include every improvement in listing and reference marks that years of bibliographical experience can dictate.

The purchase price for the Hinrichs Catalog was 265,000 marks, to be paid in yearly installments of 50,000 marks, with 4½% interest on the portion remaining unpaid after January 1, 1916, the date of first payment. The other two catalogues had been purchased some time ago, but the firm of J. C. Hinrichs held out for several years against the offers of the Boersenverein.

POSTAL NOTES.

PARCEL POST WITH CERTAIN COUNTRIES TEMPORARILY SUSPENDED.

POSTMASTER Edward M. Morgan, of New York, has issued the following list of countries to which parcel post service has been temporarily suspended or interrupted on account of the war. The service with Belgium, Germany, Austria, and Hungary has been suspended. No parcel post mail is being sent from this country to the Netherlands at present, but the service is now the subject of correspondence between the United States and the Netherlands Postal Administrations. The announcement that arrangements have been completed for the resumption of the service is expected at any time. Parcel post mail for the following French Departments is at present being declined: Aisne, Ardennes, Aube, Haute-Marne, Haute Saonne, Marne, Meurthe et Moselle, Meuse, Nord, Oise, Pas de Calais, Seine et Marne, Somme and Vosges. According to Postmaster Morgan, the present situation is likely to change at any day.

BOOK-TRADE ASSOCIATIONS.

NEW YORK BOOKSELLERS' LEAGUE.

JOHN COWPER POWYS will be unable to speak at the March dinner of the Booksellers' League on March 15 and the committee in charge has secured Dr. Louis U. Wilkinson to fill his place. Dr. Wilkinson is the author of "The Buffoon" which will be published April 1. He will be the only speaker at the dinner as the annual election of officers will take place at this meeting.

BOOKSELLERS' ASSOCIATION OF SAN FRANCISCO.

THE Booksellers' Association of San Francisco held its annual meeting and election of officers on Thursday, February 10th. The new officers are Howard M. Boys, local manager of the Methodist Book Concern, president; Samuel L. Levinson, head of the book department of Newman & Magnin Company, vice-president; and John Howell, bookseller, secretary-treasurer. The Association meets on the second Thursday of every month, in rooms set aside for its use in the Hotel Plaza. Its committee is one of the retail guilds which meet regularly with the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. One of the more recent efforts of the organization is the forthcoming complete catalogue of California authors and publishers, and of books about California. They are now taking up with the Eastern publishers the question of including in the catalogue a list also of standard publications of general interest, and as soon as this is determined the catalogue will be published.

PERSONAL NOTES.

B. W. HUEBSCH returned from Europe on March 7.

MR. JOHN MACCRAE, of E. P. Dutton & Co., arrived in England this week on the Finland. He will probably return early in April.

SIR RIDER HAGGARD has left England on a trip around the world, with a mission from the Royal Colonial Institute to investigate the chances for empire-building after the war.

WILLIAM WINTER received on February 1 a memorial signed by the President of the United States and many men and women high in every field of art, requesting that he accept, in celebration of the eightieth anniversary of his birth, a testimonial in recognition of the great service he has rendered to American literature and, more especially, to the American stage. The nature of the testimonial has not been settled.

MR. W. B. WILKINS, who has filled the position of manager of the Musson Book Co., Toronto, since 1912, is leaving the employ of the Company on the 11th inst. Mr. Wilkins, who had, prior to coming to Canada, a long and valuable experience in the English book-trade, was brought out specially by C. J. Musson, president of the Company, four years ago to handle the office end of the business and under his management various important developments have taken place. He has accompanied Mr. Musson on several buying trips to New York and will be remembered favorably by members of the New York trade.

ARTHUR J. BALDWIN, who succeeds John Hill as the new head of the Hill Publishing Company, in addition to being a successful lawyer, is treasurer of the Rogers Silver Plate Company, treasurer of the Borough Development Company, which holds a contract to remove ashes from the City of Brooklyn, treasurer of the Boston Development and Sanitary Company, which handles all the garbage and ashes for the City of Boston, vice-president of the Automatic Fire Protection Company, and secretary of the Mississippi Wire Glass Company. He had been for years the late John Hill's business adviser and confident. Mr. Baldwin's early struggles are reminiscent of Mr. Hill's early years. Both, in fact, were farmer boys. Mr. Baldwin actually had to borrow $50 to pay the expenses incidental to his entering college. When he came out with his law diploma, he had paid back the $50 and had $850 in the bank, through doing everything from hustling laundry to running a summer hotel.

PERIODICAL NOTES.

Collier's expects soon to reach the million mark in circulation.

OLIVER HERFORD has resigned as a member of Harper's Weekly editorial board.

WITH THE MARCH NUMBER The Arkansas Traveler, the magazine founded by Opie Read, appears in standard magazine form, six by nine inches in size.

SINCE THE APPEARANCE of Number 1, Volume 1, of the Journal of the National Institute of Social Sciences, some weeks ago, the price has been changed to one dollar and fifty cents a copy.

THE COMPLETE OWNERSHIP of The Dial and Books of the Month has been acquired by Herbert S. Browne and Waldo R. Browne, and these publications will be issued hereafter under their management and control. Waldo R. Browne will continue his work as editor of The Dial, and the business management of both publications will be under the direction of Herbert S. Browne.

THE Motorist's Magazine is a monthly prose-poet's quaint humor, will be published April 25 by Barse & Hopkins.

THE PUBLICATION DATE of Edwin Bateman Morris' new book, "Our Miss York" (Penn Publishing Co.) has been changed to March 18.

"SCENE PAINTING AND BULLETIN ART," a new Atkinson book, is announced by Frederick J. Drake & Company for April 1.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY entertained 2800 of its employees at a theater party at the Hippodrome in New York on March 9.

THE AUTOMOBILE BLUE BOOK PUBLISHING Co. calls the attention of the retail trade to the fact that the special permanent discount offer to booksellers closes March 15.

THE ALBRO SOCIETY, of 10 E. Thirty-second Street, New York City, will publish in April "Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered," by Mac Levy, which outlines a method by which the MAKING MONEY FROM THE MOVIES.

A Cunningham, Curtiss & Welch window made in connection with the film production of Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona" (Little, Brown), which opened recently in Los Angeles. "Get a copy of 'Ramona,' then see 'Ramona' at Clune's auditorium," the window advises. "Ramona" is said to be the longest film production ever exhibited. It is staged in a prologue and two acts, each part having an introductory transformation scene, with the largest solid stage sets ever erected.

publication devoted to the interests of the motor car owner. The first number appeared February 25. Its officers are: Horace W. Merwin, president and advertising manager; Rollin J. McMaster, treasurer and business manager; and George W. Sutton, Jr., editor. The periodical is located at 1790 Broadway, New York.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

JULIET WILBOB TOMPKINS' novel, "The Seed of the Righteous," will be published by the Bobbs-Merrill Company late in the month.

MARY S. WATTS' new novel, "The Rudder," will be published by the Macmillan Company on the fifteenth.

"WALT MASON, HIS BOOK," a volume of the nation, with the aid of physical training on the part of the individual, can overcome every form of tobacco addiction.

ABOUT THE TWENTY-FIFTH of the month D. Appleton & Company will publish Robert W. Chambers' spring book, "The Better Man," a collection of fifteen love stories with scenes laid in Florida and the Adirondacks. About the same time will appear Hugo Münsterberg's "The Photo Play," a study of the social significance of the "movies."

"FULFILLMENT" is the title of a rather unusual romance of California to-day by Emma Wolf that Henry Holt and Company expect to publish in March. Love of varied kinds is the main subject, whether it be that of sisters for each other, of a radical dramatist for the heroine, of a patient, chivalrous husband, or of his mother for him.

MESSRS. DENT announce that, owing to the increased cost of material and labor caused by the war, they are compelled to increase the price of the volumes of the English edition of Everyman's Library by one penny in the shilling extra on each of the different styles of binding. No increase has been announced in this country as yet, so far as we know.

FOR THE THREE BEST REVIEWS of "The Daredevil," by Maria Thompson Daviess (not to exceed one thousand words), received by the publishers, the Reilly & Britton Co., from any member of the book-trade—proprietor, manager, buyer, clerk, saleswoman or salesman—on or before May 1, 1916, they will pay $50; $25 for the first, $15 for the second, and $10 for the third. To everyone who sends a review they will present an author's autographed copy from the first edition.

"A VERY GREAT WRITER, and—to my thinking—the most valuable our age possesses," says John Galsworthy of W. H. Hudson in the foreword to the edition of the latter's "Green Mansions," which Alfred Knopf publishes on March 15. Of "Green Mansions," Galsworthy goes on to say: "In form and spirit the book is unique, a simple romantic narrative transmuted by sheer glow of beauty into a prose poem. Without ever departing from its quality of a tale, it symbolizes the yearning of the human soul for the attainment of perfect love and beauty in this life."

UNDOUBTEDLY one of the most interesting volumes of verse scheduled for the spring is the book of "Georgian Poetry 1913-1915," which G. P. Putnam's Sons will bring out the middle of this month. This modern anthology contains one poem by Gordon Bottomley, seven by Rupert Brooke, nine by William H. Davies, seven by Walter de la Mare, three by John Drinkwater, six by James Elroy Flecker, three by Wilfrid Wilson Gibson, two by Ralph Hodgson, three by D. H. Lawrence, three by Francis Ledwidge, one by Masefield, three by Harold Monro, five by James Stephens and one by Lascelles Abercrombie.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & COMPANY have had in effect since the first of the year an insurance plan among the employes in their Garden City plant, whereby, by the payment of one per cent. of his weekly salary, any employe may avail himself of the following benefits; First, an individual life insurance policy, which in the event of death gives beneficiary one year's salary. Second, in the event of sickness, from whatever cause the usual compensation is paid, for a period of at least six months and in many cases, longer, depending upon the individual accident. In addition to this, should the employes leave the employ of Doubleday, Page & Company, they can make equitable arrangements to take their policy and continue to pay the premiums thereon.

THE New Republic for March 4 contains a most interesting article by Amy Lowell on "The New Manner in Modern Poetry," which will go far toward clearing up uncertainties in the minds of any who wonder just what the "new poetry" stands for. The distinguishing characteristics of the so-called "new poetry" may be summed up, according to Miss Lowell, by the word "externality"—in other words, it is a protest against the old introspective elements so pronounced in the poets of the late Victorian period. "Externality," she says, is being interested in things for themselves and not for the effect they have upon oneself. Hence we find the "new poetry" insisting upon the poetry in unpoetic things, presenting facts and images without comment and endeavoring to write poetry in the natural syntax of prose.

THE SUPREME COURT has granted the petition of R. H. Macy & Co. to review the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in the Victor-Macy case. The action, brought originally by the Victor Co. in 1914, was first decided by the District Court in favor of the defendant. This decision was affirmed upon appeal, and subsequently reversed by Judge Lacombe of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, who held that the system adopted by the Victor Talking Machine Company to control the resale price of its machines, did not constitute a sale of the machine and records, but only a license to use them, and that inasmuch as under the Mimeograph case, a license to use could be coupled with certain conditions which were enforceable under the patent law, the system was approved by the Circuit Court of Appeals as legal. The appeal to the Supreme Court follows this last ruling.

REMINISCENT OF "ERSTWHILE SUSAN," in which Mrs. Fiske is playing this winter in New York, is "Her Husband's Purse" by Helen R. Martin to be published by Doubleday, Page & Co. on March 25. The scene of both is laid among the Pennsylvania Dutch and each depicts the struggle between a tight-fisted Pennsylvania Dutchman and an open-hearted, joyous wife of quite a different class who wants economic independence. The Pennsylvania Dutch farmer understands that new harness for horses, new farm machinery and a good barn are money in his pocket but he cannot see that anything in the home to lighten the labors of his women folk is aught but sacrilegious extravagance and as for his women folk being economically independent—it simply isn't done! This is the interesting problem in Mrs. Fiske's play and this is the problem in Mrs. Martin's new book which her publishers unhesitatingly pronounce her best.

ASSEMBLYMAN JACOB GOLDSTEIN, of the Thirty-first New York District, introduced a bill into the New York State Legislature on March 2 which amends Sections 40 and 41 of Chapter 14 of the Laws of 1909, constituting the Civil Rights act, by providing in effect that no person shall be excluded from a theatre "on account of any orderly public utterance or expression of the person applying for such accommodation, advantages or privileges." The measure also inserts in Section 40 the specific clause that there shall be no discrimination against a person by a theatre because his criticisms had offended the theatre management, and prohibiting the statement in any advertisement that such critic was barred. The bill is a counterblast to the recent decision in the Woolcott-Shubert case in the Court of Appeals where it was held that the theatrical managers were within their rights under the common law in excluding the critic merely because his articles were distasteful to them, and that the Civil Rights act, which prohibits discrimination because of race, creed or color, did not apply in the case.

OF THE HUNDRED million people in the United States about 100,000,000 expect to go to New York some day—unless they are there already. The field is wide, therefore, for possible buyers of "Rider's New York City," a new and comprehensive guide book, just announced by Henry Holt & Company. The volume is but the first of a series which will embrace the important cities or localities of America. The following volumes are planned for fall publication: "Rider's New England" and "Rider's Washington and Vicinity." Six others are projected. The volumes are to be first and last "guide-books"—they will have no advertising, no illustrations except in the way of maps and plans, and no "padding" in the reading matter. Only the information that the traveler needs will be given him, but that in accurate and up-to-date form. Attention has been paid to the business and engineering development of cities—a phase too often neglected in travelers' guides. The maps made by Rand, McNally & Co. show unusually careful workmanship. The series is under the general editorship of Mr. Fremont Rider. The actual compilation of the New York volume has been, in large measure, the work of Frederic Taber Cooper. It is the object of the publishers to keep the guide books carefully up to date—to make them, in fact, the recognized standard guide book series of America. Until now we have had no adequate guides of the various sections of the country. No wonder we saw America last, if we saw her at all! The new series will help toward the real "seeing" of America.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Index to Spring Announcements.

In this department the announcement of books to be published during the Spring are indexed under author and title, with as much information as publishers were ready to give in advance of publication. Books appearing before February 1 in our "Weekly Record of New Publications" are not included.

Where binding is not stated the books are generally understood to be in cloth binding; "bds.," particularly in the department of Juvenile fiction, generally means illuminated or fancy board covers.

Weekly Record of New Publications

The entry is transcribed from title page when the book is sent by publisher for record. Books received, unless of minor importance, are given descriptive annotation. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Where not specified the binding is cloth.

A colon after initial designates the most usual name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederick; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are indicated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); O. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Ff. (48mo: 10 cm.); sq., obl. nar., designate square, oblong, narrow. For books not received sizes are given in Roman numerals, 4°, 8°, etc.

American Jewish Committee. The Jews in the eastern war zone. [N. Y., The committee, 356 Second Ave.] 102 p. D gratis

Atherton, Gertrude Franklin Horn. Mrs. Balfame; a novel. N. Y., Stokes. c. 335 p. D $1.35 n.

While Mrs. Balfame took every advantage of their improved material wealth, her husband deteriorated. She shrank from divorce, so she decided on poisoning him. After a debauch at the club, Balfame, on the way home, as it were, to the other little affair, was shot. Mrs. Balfame, who was innocent, was finally held for the murder. Interest is divided between solving the mystery and studying the satire on the members of a quasi-fashionable suburb under this strain on the conventions.

A young girl's rebellion against the jealous proprietorship of her mother's love, played out partly in England and partly in Egypt. There has been much in the married life of this mother to account for her bitterness of soul and to explain her tyrannous affection that demands from her daughter a singleness of devotion. When Anne's fancy is caught, the clandestine expression of her attachment, which the circumstances demand, makes the plot and the severe trial of her dignity.

- Norris, C: G. The amateur. N. Y., Doran. c. 379 p. D $1.35 n.
After Carey Williams had several years of struggle in New York he acquired vogue as a painter of pretty heads. With this prosperity, he set himself up as a man-about-town, and went with a fast crowd. This resulted in his being shot-up for a crime he was not guilty of. While he was in the hospital, Carey began to realize that he was not only an "amateur" in art, he was one in life. His subsequent life was a successful attempt to make good. Realistic novel by the brother of the late Frank Norris.

This indicates how matters get under way: Miss Carrington is a very rich woman, and lives at her great show place upon Long Island. She has an awful temper. In the house are Miss Frayne, Miss Carrington's niece Pauline, and a fortune hunting count. The night before the dowager was murdered, these people are especially exasperated by her. It was the evening that the count was thought to have put the question of marriage! The next morning she is found dead, sitting placidly in her chair facing her dressing table. In one hand is the glove of the count. Here is the mystery Fleming Stone is called in to solve.

Advertising copy should reach us Tuesday noon—earlier if proof is desired out-of-town. Forms close Thursday night.

Under the heading "BOOKS WANTED" book-trade subscribers, under their own names, are given five nonpareil lines (exclusive of address) free advertisement for specified books, not more than one title to the line, in any issue except special numbers, but not exceeding 100 lines a year. If over five lines are sent the excess is at 10 cents a line. Unspecified wants, reprinted matter, and all advertisements from non-subscribers, cost 10 cents a line. Objectionable books are excluded so far as they are noted.

In answering, please state edition, condition and price, including postage or express charges. Houses that will deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis should put [Cash] after their firm name. The appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the WEEKLY does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it endeavors to safeguard its columns by withholding the privileges of advertising should occasion arise, booksellers should take usual precautions in extending credit.

"Books Wanted" must be designated by actual title, not by "any."

Write your wants plainly, on one side of the sheet only. Illegible "wants" are ignored. The WEEKLY is not responsible for errors. Parties with whom there is no account must pay in advance.

Under "BOOKS FOR SALE" or for other small undisplayed advertisements, the charge is 10 cents a nonpareil line. No reduction for repeated matter. Count seven words to the line.

The Most Important Autobiography
in Years

Notes of a Busy Life

By

Hon Joseph Benson Foraker

Mr. Foraker has given us his experience in the Union Army, on the Bench, as Governor of Ohio, and in the Senate of the United States.

Political and public events of great importance and incidentally many national characters are dealt with in the most enlightening manner. The work will prove of special interest to all students of political history whether they are public officials or only public-spirited Americans, interested in the preservation of our institutions.

Philadelphia North American: "It is primarily compact of documentary evidence, reinforced by contemporary comment."

Louisville Courier Journal: "The entire work will prove instructive. The most valuable contribution to history is that portion which relates to the author's career in the Senate of the United States."

Richmond Times Dispatch: "Many interesting bits of information are given concerning historic men of this and preceding generations. Few politicians have seen more of men and measures than Mr. Foraker."

WEBSTER'S NEW CENTURY DICTIONARY

Based upon the solid foundation laid by NOAH WEBSTER, LL.D., and other lexicographers

Revised and brought up to date by EDWARD T. ROE, LL.B., assisted by many eminent English and American authorities

This Dictionary is not published by the original publishers of Webster's Dictionary, or by their successors,—but embodies the latest decisions of the foremost American and English authorities on spelling, pronunciation and definition.

An Up-to-Date and Authoritative Dictionary. Sure to contain what is sought for and to be thoroughly reliable.

In addition to the most serviceable dictionary features, this book contains a condensed compilation of handy facts for ready reference, that at least doubles its value and use as a dictionary-encyclopedia.

MISCELLANEOUS

New Improvements in Quick-Selling Titles

In addition to our regular staple lines we have the various series of Dean Rag Books, now enlarged and more popular than ever. They are always a novelty. They cover every child interest and are the most serviceable children's books that can be made. They are made in the various popular prices and sell rapidly wherever given a reasonable display.

Many new titles are added to our new lines with important improvements. We still continue leaders in Children's Toy Books, including Stencil Books, Diploma Series, Real Life Series, and our Cloth-Bound Quarto Juveniles.

Among our miscellaneous publications, our Buster Brown books are still in the lead, three new titles are added to our "All About Series," and there are now six titles in our new edition of "Favorite Hymns Series."

We have now in press two books especially designed for the use of Sunday Schools and religious homes; these are, "Wonderful Stories from the Old Testament" and "Wonderful Stories from the New Testament." Another book of the highest merit is "Courage and Consolation," containing a page of the most inspiring quotations for every day in the year. It appeals to a special interest stronger than any other book.

White Ribbon Boys

NEW SERIES

By RAYMOND SPERRY, Jr.

Ned, Bob and Jerry at Boxwood Hall, or, The Motor Boys as Freshmen

This is the first volume of a second series in which the popular Motor Boys enter upon entirely new experience in life. Some boys at school have heard about them as adventurous heroes and so conclude that the Motor Boys will try to boss the school sports. They plot to keep the newcomers in the background. The way the heroes forge to the front, makes interesting reading.

Baseball Joe on the Giants, or, Making Good as a Twirler in the Metropolis

From St. Louis, Joe is traded to New York. How Joe works his way up on the Giants, how he becomes the mainstay of the pitching force in winning the league pennant, and how he succeeds in restoring the missing fortune, makes a gripping story.

The Y. M. C. A. Boys of Cliffwood, or, The Struggle for the Howell Prize

This story shows how some boys organized into a department of the local Y. M. C. A. reformed their rowdy town and brought the gang into the orderly class with all their vigor for the Y. M. C. A. cause.

The White Ribbon Boys of Chester, or, The Old Tavern Keeper's Secret

Chester was a typical factory and drinking town. One of the foremen was so vigorous a temperance advocate that a plot was formed to have him discharged. How the plot makers were at last caught in their own traps and how Chester became temperate and prosperous, is the heart of the story.

GIRL'S FAVORITES

The Motor Girls Series By MARGARET PENROSE

The Motor Girls at Camp Surprise, or, The Cave in the Mountains

This is a pleasing story of camp life in the mountains, experienced by a merry, nature-loving bunch of girls. Many mysterious things happen in their camp which are prevented from frightening them away by the chivalrous assistance of some boy friends, who finally clear up the mystery and all is well.

Well-bound in cloth, 12mo. Handsomely illustrated. Price per volume, 60 cents.

ONE OF THE BOOKS

Which we recently manufactured complete was the "Anthology of Magazine Verse" for Gomme and Marshall.

Concerning this book the New York Times Book Review of January 9th has the following very flattering comment:

"And if the editor of the Anthology deserves praise for the work of his brain and hand, it would seem only fair to add that he has been ably seconded by the hand and brain of his publisher. A more tasteful and beautiful volume than the 'Anthology of Magazine Verse for 1915' would be hard to find—certainly at the very modest price asked for it."
